TYDINGS SEEKS DRY TESTIMONY

Wants Enforcement Commission Evidence Turned Over for Senate Study. Washington, Jan. 27.—(A. P.)—The senate was asked today by Senator Tydings, Democrat, Maryland, to call upon the law enforcement commission for the testimony upon which it based its prohibition findings. His resolution, which went over for future consideration, based the claim for the testimony on the ground that the commission had recommended certain legislation and therefore Congress had a right to the evidence on which the recommendation was made.

Out of the Lurk and Mist of Business Confusion

Here and there throughout the nation are bright and shining spots recording substantial and increasing growth and gain in public approval. Wherever and whenever they occur, it is good to see that almost invariably some fine business institution is being rewarded because it has held fast courageously to high principle and sound tradition.

Pierce-Arrow has always felt that in motor cars, as in everything else, a vogue is a hazardous thing because mere vogues are apt to vanish—whereas a reputation well-earned and well-deserved can be counted upon to endure.

The current record leaves little room to doubt that fine car owners have come to the same conclusion—that the time-tried reliabilities of Pierce-Arrow are being preferred to passing sensationalisms.

The new Pierce-Arrow line is evidently considered all-sufficient and all-efficient for the family of established standing and exacting requirements.

These noble and dignified-looking cars live up superbly well to the rich promise of their appearance—leaving nothing to be desired by those who will not compromise with comfort and performance.

A thoughtful appraisal of existing values—a study of the Pierce-Arrow and of its distinguished status—a leisurely demonstration of its new performance powers—these successive steps will reveal it to you more than ever the lord of its own domain.
